‘The Mystery of Vocation and the Consecrated Life’ by Fr. James Hanvey SJ, available on the Dimensions Faith website.

The text offers a theological-spiritual meditation on the mystery of Christian vocation, with particular attention to the consecrated life, beginning with the liturgy of the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple. Through the biblical figures of Simeon and Anna, the reflection highlights vocation as encounter, expectation and openness to God's action in personal and community history. It also offers a glimpse of consecrated life as a prophetic sign and eschatological witness, rooted in the following of Christ and the mission of the Church, in dialogue with the challenges of the present time. I warmly invite you to read this contribution as it may be of interest for spiritual formation courses, vocational accompaniment and moments of community reflection. The reflection is available at the following link: <https://dimensions.faith/the-mystery-of-vocation-and-the-consecrated-life/>

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

During Catholic Schools Week, February 9 – 13, 2026, we give thanks for the gift of Catholic education and the dedicated teachers who nurture both the minds and hearts of our young people. Our Catholic schools are places where faith is lived each day, where the Gospel shapes learning, and where children are known, valued, and supported within a strong community of families, parish, and school.

Today, I wish to invite you to prayerfully consider a vocation to teaching within our Catholic schools' system. Teaching in a Catholic school is more than a profession; it is a ministry. It offers the opportunity to live your faith openly, to partner closely with parents who are deeply engaged in their children's education, and to belong to a community grounded in shared values, hope, and service.

I extend this invitation especially to pre-service teachers discerning their future, and to those currently teaching in the public system who may feel called to bring their gifts and experience into Catholic education. Your talents, faith, and commitment can make a lasting difference in the lives of young people. Information on opportunities within our schools can be found on the Manitoba Catholic Schools website.

May we continue to pray for our teachers and for those whom God is calling to this vital work. I ask you to listen to that call with generous hearts and trust in the Spirit's guidance.

With every blessing,

Yours in Christ,

+Murray Chatlain
Archbishop of Winnipeg
