A Shift in our Way of Thinking...

Amos was the first to articulate the idea of ethical monotheism... one God over all peoples, one God who had a moral purpose of justice for the whole world. He has also uttered what has become the decisive summons of all prophetic faith: "But let justice roll down like water and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream"

The Prophet Amos

(Amos 5:54)... [In today's first reading,] being a prophet was never on Amos' to-do list. Nevertheless, by God's grace, Amos prophesied, and... his word continues to challenge God's people to uphold God's justice and be defenders of the poor and downtrodden.

When Jesus called the Twelve, each already had his own means of livelihood. But, at Jesus' invitation, each was willing to set aside his job and share in Jesus' vocation.... Like the Twelve, we are to be His emissaries. This will not necessarily require us to travel to foreign lands. But what will be necessary is a shift in our way of thinking: "What if I were to regard my job as my vocation, as an activity where I am called by God to witness to truth, justice and goodness? What if I were to treat my coworkers as gifts from God? How might the work I do become better, more careful, more generous?" Maybe the drudgery of the workaday routine would turn into peace and serenity. No matter what the job, by God's grace, it can be a vocation.
