“Leaving God for God”

[Today's first reading from Jeremiah] demands that we assess the state of our Church by looking at the care being provided for the poor and the widows, the lost, the disheartened and those who feel exiled by the religious community. We have God's promise to give us good shepherds, but all members of the Church must also call them forth and do their own part to care for those in need.... must take part in continuing the mission of Jesus by advocating the restoration of human dignity in our own desperately needy contexts.... The more we serve, the better we will get to know the Good Shepherd among us.

The Prophet Jeremiah

[In the Gospel reading from Mark,] Jesus looked at the crowd who had come after him and saw people who had not found what they needed in the temple or synagogue. They were hungry for more than the religious leaders of the day were offering them, and they were willing to go to great lengths to find it. No wonder he responded to them!... Sainte Louise de Marillac, foundress of the Daughters of Charity, taught her sisters to be willing to leave their prayers, to go serve the poor, conscious that they were “leaving God for God.” Such was Jesus' intuition in this case. He had wanted to go away to discern God's will and teach his disciples; the reality was that the people's hunger revealed God's will and Jesus' response was the teaching that his disciples needed most.
